ABSTRACT

Designed to enable college administrators to reflect on norms and trends within Mississippi's 16 public junior colleges and to provide information to the general public, this report presents statistical data for 1980-81 on enrollments, finance, personnel, and services. After introductory material providing college addresses and the schedule of board of trustee meetings, tables present data on enrollment by class and sex for in-state and out-of-state students; enrollments, by college and campus, for full- and part-time day students and evening students; and a summary of graduates by college, by area (i.e., academic, technical, vocational, and other), and by degree or certificate received. Tables focusing on income and expenditures indicate sources of revenue by college; student fees and charges by college; county tax support by district and amount spent; educational and general (E&G) expenditures for fiscal year 1981 by function and object; and percentages of E&G expenditures by function and object. Personnel data are provided with respect to the educational preparation of administrators by position and degree held; the educational preparation of full- and part-time teachers and counselors; and academic salaries. The last tables cover, by college, library expenditures, capacity, inventory, and staff; student services; transportation services; dormitory utilization; and auxiliary enterprises expenditures and revenues. PREFACE

Mississippi Public Junior College Statistical Data, 1980-81 is the nineth year of compilations of data from the sixteen public junior colleges in Mississippi. These data are generally compatible with those contained in reports of 1972-73 through 1979-80. No analysis is attempted by the Division of Junior Colleges in this publication.

The primary purpose of this report is to enable Mississippi junior college administrators to reflect upon norms and trends within these institutions. It may also serve the general public as a source of statistical data about the public junior colleges.

The reader is cautioned about making comparisons or generalizations based on this data. The diversity in purposes, programs, services, and organizations among these sixteen districts is necessary to meet the differing needs of the various service areas. Much of the heterogeneous statistical data reported herein may be attributed to this diversity.

It is hoped that this material will be of assistance to the administration and staff of the Mississippi public junior colleges in developing and executing decisions which will further the continued growth and orderly development of these educational institutions.

MISSISSIPPI PUBLIC JUNIOR COLLEGES

Sixteen comprehensive junior (community) college districts provide educational programs and services which are accesible to virtually all Mississippi citizens. This has been a goal of these public two-year institutions since the first ones began admitting students in 1922. All of these junior colleges are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

This network of institutions operates both university transfer and occupationally-oriented programs. Over sixty percent of the Mississippi high school graduates who attend college do so at the junior colleges. A student may transfer earned credits to four-year institutions without loss of credit if the student has followed the recommended course of study. Studies reveal that junior college transfer students perform as well as the native student at four-year institutions.

Junior colleges are the primary delivery mechanism for postsecondary occupational programs in Mississippi. These programs of two-years or less duration are designed to prepare students for immediate employment and for upgrading of skills for those currently employed. Training programs in more than one hundred occupational skills are provided by the schools.

Junior colleges also provide a variety of continuing education, community, and public service activities. A characteristic of Mississippi's junior colleges is their flexibility to respond to needs of a given segment of the state's society. This sensitivity is the result of an administration and a board of control operating at the local level.

Cooperation by the various junior colleges on state-wide endeavors and necessary coordination by the state-level Junior College Commission combine with local control to form a state-local partnership in the operation of Mississippi's two-year institutions. They are financed by state appropriations, local district taxes, student fees, and federal grants.
